Guess who quit smoking?

113-113-113

It was kind of nice to hear some of my silly journalistic idealism come ringing back from the speaker's podium the other day. It was Bob Mann, now an assistant prof at SMU, who hit Texas journalists with advice on investigative reporting.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mann, he the president of Cameron Library Board, Robert, as we euphemistically called him, delivers a direct line into the journalist's head about what he might do with controversy in his community.

He learned a little of that here, I suppose, and some in Fort Worth and Colorado and Dallas. He spoke as part of the SMU journalism department's panel during the TPA mid-winter meeting.

113-113-113

Just the mention of library reminds of the five-year effort required to build that contemporary structure over East Fourth St.

It was sort of the proto-type project among projects around. I make no secret of its importance to me and to local "arts and letters." It was the first new public structure, other than school, built in this century in Cameron up to 1966.

Anshel Brusilow likes the place. He saw some German folk dancing the other night there and enjoyed hot Wassail and cheese.

It's more than a library, though it has more than 10,000 volumes. In part, because of it, fund raisers met demands to finance a new St. Edward Hospital. They said any community which could build that kind of library could build that kind of hospital, a second one even, and could raise money for almost anything easier than a library. All of which proved true.

It was a commitment which took five years. Like any good thing, it required patience. Dumb to be so slow, maybe, but worth it. I keep commitments.

Amidst the endless controversies in community development, within Texas and national press circles and in whatever else this columnist has involved himself, much of which fewer than three here know about, I have learned one thing:

That people don't believe or seek truth; they believe and accept what they agree with. They would like this newspaper to run that way. So would politicians and most everyone else.

The price of plus-and-minus journalism is attrition of the will to retain objectivity, as far as it is possible, the temptation to crawl into the trenches of blind partisanship, and often, the nearest gutter. Herald readers are spared that.

I would remind you that this area can't continue to heap abuse on its progressive people, as it has so long. It is as if we are being held responsible for past broken dreams by opposition to contemporary attempts, many successful.

What happens is able people say little or nothing and one day they are gone. They come and they leave voluntarily.

Two On Bond After Breakin At Yoe High

Two young men have been charged with burglary in Justice of the Peace Jess Brock's Court following their arrest Sunday evening about 6:30 by Cameron police when they tried to break into Yoe High School.

Roger Brent Nunn of Cameron was released on $1500 bond and Jimmy Dale Williams of Cameron and Caldwell was released on $5000 bond following their arrest.

They were apprehended by Yoe Principal John Chubb after they broke a window in the girls' restroom and were reaching in to unlock the window. Chubb was in the building Sunday night replacing a light when he heard the window breaking.

Williams, 20, is also facing previous charges of theft and accomplice to rape.

New License Plates Go On Sale Today

New 1973 license plates go on sale Thursday morning (today) at the Milam County Tax Office. The new plates may be purchased anytime after February 1 but must be attached to all motor vehicles by April 1.

All automobile owners are reminded to bring the three-part license forms which they recently received through the mail from the Texas Highway Department.

Car owners who did not receive the proper license forms from the Highway Department are asked to bring the auto title and current registration receipts to the tax office. If the plates are ordered by mail the license forms should be included in the request for new plates. The county also requires the fee and $1 for the postage.

If a car owner traded cars during the year, he may not have received the correct forms from the Highway Department. In that case, the title and registration receipts should be used.

Register To Vote Before Elections

Anyone who registered to vote in 1972 is automatically registered for the next two years, according to the Milam County Tax Office. It will not be necessary to register again during that time.

Persons who are not registered may register anytime during the year, or 30 days before the election they wish to vote in, a tax office spokesman said.

Previous deadline for voter registration was January 31.

Vietnamese Folk View Ceasefire

By Christopher Pritchett
SAIGON

For a wounded aged soldier it could mean a chance to start his own business, for a girl clerk the prospect of marriage, for a food peddler the hope that her soldier husband will at last come home from the war.

For the ordinary South Vietnamese news of the ceasefire agreement gives hope at last that, after 30 years of intermittent war, some of their humble personal dreams may be realized.

In their hearts few people question at random in a Saigon street seem to believe that the fighting would really end for good and all. But they hoped for the best.

Nguyen Van Ngoc, 36, and the father of seven boys, lost a leg in fighting near Saigon during the North Vietnamese offensive last year. He now squats over a brazier at a dusty street corner repairing simple motorcycle parts. He earns about 10,000 piastres (22.50 dollars) a month.

"I hope this means the government will help me start a proper business in Saigon where I won't be chased away by police," Nguyen said. "I am happy for my sons. But they will go into the army if need be. I don't mind that."

Finance ministry clerk Tran Thi Thuong, 26, said she was not sure the agreement would mean peace.

"I am doubtful the fighting will stop. I don't believe the communist's promises. But I am still very happy. I am waiting for peace, to get married."

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Huynh, shaded by a conical hat and staggering under the weight of two heavy food trays dangling from a pole slung across her shoulder, had not heard the news.

"You really mean there will be a ceasefire?" she asked incredulously when asked for her opinions.

"Well, I hope my husband, who is in the airborne in Hue, will be able to come home. I am going to have a special meal with him to celebrate," the mother of a six-year-old girl said happily.

Taxi-driver Nguyen Van Khanh, squatting on the pavement beside his small and ancient yellow and blue French car, came from North Vietnam in 1954 and served in the South Vietnamese army. His son is a private in the air force. "I don't think it means he will be coming home soon."

"I am very happy we have peace. But what can I do? I will continue to be a taxi driver."

Opposition lower house deputy Nguyen Huu Chung, a spokesman for presidential candidate General Duong Van (Big) Minh during the 1971 election, said only: "There is a ceasefire. There will be no peace."

Bose, Bertha Gaines, Katherine Kopriva, Lois Melton, Virginia Wall, Jewell Gibson, Carolyn Harding, Ola Hight, Bonnie Hunt, Barbara Kraatz, and Jessie Morgan.

Opt Out Of Conscience?...

Views of students toward amnesty following the Vietnam settlement are interesting.

Some would accept the "coppees" back without question. Some would put conditions on their return from Canada, Scandinavia, even North Vietnam. Others wouldn't let them back into a country they felt was involved in a "bad" war.

Conditional acceptance seems fairest, compelling service in the military or some service-type institution for the time they otherwise would have served before leaving the country. "Conscientious objectors" used to be ambulance drivers and clerks or orderlies for chaplains.

If all the "coppees" were philosophically and idealistically founded against war and could prove it, perhaps full amnesty would be a consideration. But a large percentage was deadbeats of one kind or another who broke because an anti-war movement was underway.

A man without a country, which many thousands of these people have become, is a terrible piece of human driftwood. Where he resides may be temporary and where he goes the same. And where he came from will never quite be sure why he left his country under those circumstances.

The price, however amnesty be applied, is high for those who opt out of conscience or appear to.

For Bond Proposal...

We are for the upcoming bond election for improvements at Yoe Campus. The same limitations apply, plus some building trim taken away since the first bond vote last October.

We are dealing with a mixture of old buildings, condemned buildings to which a gym or physical education plant would be added. Still no auditorium, either city or school.

It would seem the things this proposal seeks are essentials. Some new buildings are essential, so it would also see this is an essential interim bond program until a major somewhere down the years can be undertaken, quite likely a new high school campus.

We are for the modernization of the Yoe Campus. A $900,000 bond issue will do some of these things. Let's turn the vote to approval, get on with these proposals and start projections on things down the line.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

FORCED BUSING GETS THEIR ATTENTION

REP. WILMER MIZELL (N.C.) ... As we begin the 93rd Congress, I believe there is no more important domestic issue facing the American people than the issue of forced busing.

"And I believe we should waste no time in beginning anew our efforts to prohibit the forced busing of schoolchildren simply to achieve an arbitrary racial balance in our public schools."

"And so today I am introducing a resolution for CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT, stating that 'no public school student shall, on the basis of race, creed or color, be assigned to or required to attend a particular school.'"

"That amendment won the support of more than 150 of my colleagues in the 92nd Congress, but our efforts to see it passed were frustrated by the leadership of the Judiciary Committee."

"I am hopeful that this amendment will fare better in the 93rd Congress than it did in the 92nd."

I remain convinced that there is a great and urgent need to restore a better sense of educational and fiscal priorities in the public school system in America by prohibiting the disruptive and wasteful policy of forced busing.

"Cosponsoring the bill with me today are a great many of my distinguished colleagues, representing constituencies from all across America and sitting on both sides of the aisle."

"I urge the swift consideration of this legislation in the appropriate committee, and I look with great hope toward the day when this amendment shall be passed by the Congress, ratified by the States, and delivered to an anxiously awaiting American people."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOT COMMENT

You may, or may not agree with the intent of Rep. Mizell's amendment. To express your attitude you might write, "I AGREE" or "I DISAGREE" on the face of this column and mail it to The Hon. Wilmer Mizell, Room 1228, Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Instead, you may wish to mail the "marked" column to your own Congressman.

EARTH AGE

If Earth's total age, now estimated by geophysicists at about 4.5 billion years, is taken as a single 24-hour day, today's ocean basins are scarcely an hour old. By the same measure, the cave dwellers were hunting their prey less than a second ago; the past 500 years is but a hundredth of a second, and a 50-year working life is only one thousandth of a second. National Geographic says.

Britain Links Fortunes With Western Europe

By Alan Harvey

LONDON

"Britain," said the late Charles De Gaulle, "is insular, maritime and linked by her trade, her markets and her suppliers to a great variety of countries."

"In brief," he added, "the structure of Britain is definitely different from that of the continental countries."

That was in January, 1963, when the then French president rejected Britain's first bid to join the European common market.

Now Britain, against the grain of an apparent majority of public opinion at home, is formally linking its fortunes with Western Europe in an enlarged nine-nation community which is expected to have profound effects on the world balance of power.

British entry follows painful, highly-charged debate.

For many people, joining the continent represented a loss of something personal, a sacrifice of cherished national sovereignty.

Parliamentarians received hundreds of letters, ranging from the serious to the trivial, criticizing the consequences of British membership.

One senior labor figure, Douglas Houghton, expressed bemusement that one recurring theme of discontent in letters he received was that British entry would somehow affect the amount of butterfat in British milk.

A hard core of conservatives, numbering as high as 80 at times, remained hostile to the market option despite the ruling party's strong traditions of loyalty and the knowledge that Prime Minister Edward Heath had fixed the European goal as his top priority.

Rebel conservatives contended that on such a transcendental issue as the Common Market, the British people should be allowed to express their views in a referendum or a general election.

But Heath insisted that the "British Way" was to handle such questions through the parliamentary process.

Britain's opposition labor party was more deeply divided even than the conservatives.

Although opposition leader Harold Wilson had made Britain's application to join the Common Market when labor was in power, party attitudes changed after the conservatives won the June 1970 general election.

Labor hammered out a new policy which called for renegotiation of the terms of market entry negotiated by the conservatives, with British opinion to be tested by a referendum of election before entry.

The decision was painful to labor's substantial minority of pro-Europeans. One of its most prominent figures, Roy Jenkins, resigned as deputy leader along with several other market supporters.

Much of the opposition to Europe came from labor's left wing, still a minority in the party but now in the ascendancy.

They decided to keep up the fight even after British entry Jan. 1. A parliamentary party meeting Dec. 13 reaffirmed a leadership recommendation for a one-year ban on labor participation in the European parliament at Strasbourg.

Labor had been expected to provide nearly half of Britain's quota of 36 members to the 198-seat Strasbourg parliament.

While the debate went on at home, successive British governments had maintained their efforts to win European acceptance of Britain's entry bid.

After more than a decade of negotiations and two French vetoes, the political breakthrough came at Paris in May 1971 between French President Georges Pompidou and British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

LS Gas Sets $95 Million Construction

DALLAS

Lone Star Gas Company and its wholly owned subsidiary today announced plans to invest nearly $95 million in construction and exploration projects in 1973, according to W. C. McCord, president.

McCord noted that a large portion of 1973's planned capital spending will be for the exploration of oil and gas, some 25% more than in 1972. "This is certainly proper," McCord said, "in light of the current energy crisis. We are working hard to expand proven energy reserves and to continue our program to further increasing gas supply for our utility operation."

Plans have been made by Lone Star to spend approximately $40 million on additions to its utility system $12 million by its distribution divisions that serve over 1,060,000 customers in 570 cities and towns in Texas and Oklahoma - and $28 million for pipeline construction and other projects associated with increasing its gas supply capability. This includes the completion of the 360-mile West Texas gas supply system.

Lone Star plans to spend approximately $40 million for oil and gas exploration and production.

Political speculation has suggested that French resistance to British membership finally gave way because of President Pompidou's conviction that France needed Britain as a counter to the growing economic strength of West Germany.

President Pompidou and Heath, from their public statements, appeared to have a close identity of views on the nature and timing of future political development in Europe.

They seemed to share a preference for a pragmatic, step-by-step approach towards closer co-operation, with monetary and economic unity taking priority over political integration.

The new nine-nation entity is widely expected to play a pivotal role in international conferences during 1973 on world trade.

Dear editor:

In line with what I have figured out is the new U.S. Postal Service's motto: "Neither rain nor sleet nor snow nor gloom of dissatisfied customers shall keep us from showing a profit," the Postmaster General has proposed plans for charging extra for any envelope that's not standard size.

As he explains it, odd-size envelopes won't go through the automated canceling machines, so people ought to pay extra for mailing such things as tiny birth announcements, square wedding announcements, over-size Christmas cards, etc. He figures half the people will go on using the off-size envelopes and the postal service can pick up an extra 100 million dollars a year this way.

This makes sense, but he shouldn't stop there. Not only should all envelopes be the same size, the contents of all letters ought to be the same. That way, it wouldn't make any difference whether your mail arrived a week late or never at all. Be the best way on earth to cut out all this complaining about lousy mail service.

Speaking of standardizing things, I understand that before long all packaged or canned or jarred foods will carry a label telling exactly what's inside, how much fat, how many calories, carbohydrates, protein, etc., and also include the serving size and the number of servings per container.

As far as I know this is a fine thing. I guess if a man can't depend on his taste buds to tell him what to eat he ought to gather up the labels, get a slide rule and figure out what he's going to have for dinner, but it's that part about telling the number of servings each can contains that's going to run into trouble.

Servings for whom? If for a 12-year-old boy who got a football for Christmas, for get the label and start emptying the cans into a dishpan till you get it about half full.

Washington may be trying to standardize this country but it's going to be a job. There are just too many people who won't stand still.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

New Plant Locations Climb To Near Record In Texas

New plant locations in Texas last year climbed to a near record total of 355, the second best year for industrial growth in the state's history.

The Texas Industrial Commission reported the year end figures were 56 plant locations short of the 1969 total of 411 that made Texas the nation's leader in industrial growth.

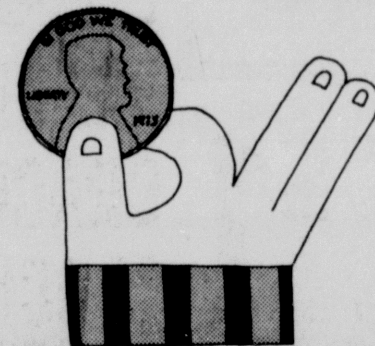

Industrial expansions last year totaled 316, up from 225 in 1971, but short of the 1969 total of 505.

"We are most pleased with last year's industrial gains since they follow a year of economic problems," Chairman Chester C. Wine of Corpus Christi said. "Efforts to stabilize the economy through wage and price controls are working. Texas' growth last year indicates the overall economic picture is much brighter."

The chairman of the nine-member Commission credited development programs implemented by the Industrial Commission in 1970 and 1971 with some of the growth.

"These programs are now maturing and will give us the important capabilities we need to meet future product demands," he said. "Based on our economic gains and the state's diversified offerings to modern industry, we can expect a continuation of this growth for 1972 and 1974."

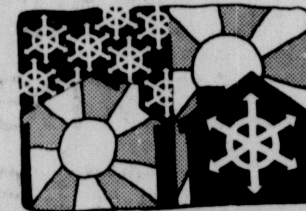

Of the new plants attracted to Texas, the largest percentage were apparel, lumber, transportation and food-oriented industries. Gains were also made in the chemical, machinery, electronics, fabricated metal and furniture industries.

3. Set thermostat at the lowest comfortable temperature during the winter and at the highest comfortable temperature during the summer.
4. Open outside doors as little as possible. Keep doors and windows properly weather-stripped.
5. Close all draperies and blinds at night and those in rooms where sunlight is not really necessary during the daytime.
6. Keep damper on fireplace closed when not in use.
7. Keep outdoor portion of the cooling system clear of plants, vines and other obstructions to the flow of air.

ELECTRIC KITCHEN AND LAUNDRY

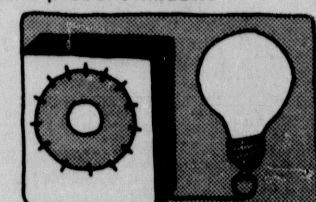

1. Defrost refrigerator regularly and replace worn door gaskets.
2. Don't overcrowd refrigerator. This interferes with air circulation and overworks the compressor.
3. Don't put uncovered liquids in a frost-free refrigerator.
4. When cooking on the range, use flat-bottomed utensils which fit the surface units. Cover utensils when possible.
5. Never use surface units or oven for purposes other than cooking. Turn off surface units and oven when not in use.
6. Don't run partial loads in dishwasher,

7. Save hot water when laundering. Use warm water for colored and lightly soiled garments. Use cold water with cold-water detergents.

WHEN YOU GO ON VACATION

1. Unplug small electric appliances.
2. For a big electrical savings, turn off your air conditioning while you are away! If you prefer to leave it on, set the thermostat at 80 degrees. During the winter, set heating system thermostat a few degrees lower than usual.
3. If refrigerator is left running, set the temperature up a few degrees. If refrigerator is turned off, prop the door open to prevent mildew.

4. Use clock timers or photo-electric cells to turn lights on and off automatically.

65 Producers Attend Grain Sorghum Meeting

By Bill McCutchen

Some 65 grain sorghum producers were present at the Milam County Grain Sorghum meeting January 22nd at the Thorndale High School. Melvin Weise of Thorndale made arrangements for the Thorndale meeting.

Ben Spears, Extension Agronomist; Don Parks, Extension Economist - Management; Wilburn Beckhusen, Milam County Crops Committee Chairman; and Douglas Buck, ASCS Executive Director for Milam County presented the program.

The meeting was co-sponsored by the Milam County Farm Bureau and the crops committee. Ed Lehman, president of the Milam County Farm Bureau opened the meeting.

Beckhusen spoke briefly to the group about grain sorghum contracting that was being conducted in the area. He said there were a considerable range of contract prices with $2.50 being about normal.

Ben Spears covered several topics including early season greenbug control on grain sorghum. Spears said that there was no doubt that these systemics would work but cited examples of greenbug and banks grain mite resistance where pesticides were continually used. He noted that these materials controlled the usually harmless corn leaf aphid populations that provided excellent predator food in grain sorghum fields. Ladybugs and other predator insects then can aid in keeping down damaging greenbug populations.

Buck talked to the group on the Feed Grain program and financing farm grain storage and received a lot of questions on all topics.

The final presentation was made by Don Parks, Extension Economist on Farm Grain Sorghum storage. Parks summed up his presentation by saying that in most years it would cost the farmer about $0.37 per cent to store his own grain and that this is about what local elevators charge. Parks said that in most years Milam County farmers got their grain sorghum crops out before the price broke. He granted that this year a farmer could have made good money by farm storage but said that this was not the usual situation.

CROPS MEETING

Milam, Bastrop, Travis and Williamson counties are planning a joint Livestock and Crops meeting February 13th at the Taylor National Guard Armory in Taylor.

There will be further information later on this, but a tentative program follows: Morning Session - Livestock - Making Money with Forage Production in Williamson - Travis Counties - Dr. Neal Pratt, Texas Agric. Extension Service; Ticks and Screwworms in 1973 - Dr. Hudson Jones, Texas Animal Health Commission; The Future of Agricultural Chemicals on Livestock and Crops - Dr. Jack Price, Texas Agric. Extension Service.

Lunch - Dutch Treat Barbecue.

Afternoon Session - Crops Cotton and Grain Sorghum Contracts for 1973 - Outlook, Fingerprint, Where, Who do you see - Kermit Voelkel, Austin; Cotton Insect Control for 1973 - Temik, Boll Weevil Control, Worms and Outlook - C. B. Cowan, Agric. Research Service; Systemics on Grain Sorghum - C. Seth Davis; What We've Bought for the Dollar Per Bale - Dan Pustejovsky, Cotton Prod. Institute Representative.

This is shaping up to be an excellent program and I hope Milam County producers will take advantage of it.

Ronald Cobb Joins Calf Scramble

Ronald Cobb of Cameron Jr. High and Michael Jackson of Hearne Jr. High will be participating in the 1973 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo calf scramble during the night performance on Friday, March 2nd.

Since its beginning in 1942, the calf scramble has paid youngsters well over $1 million to buy more than 6,000 calves to feed and develop.

The purpose of the calf scramble is to encourage and further educate 4-H Club and FFA boys in the raising, feeding and breeding of high quality Texas cattle.

Only half of the 388 boys taking part in this year's scramble will come out winners.

headquarters in Waco. At right is Don Neumann of Waco, TFB assistant field services director and coordinator of young peoples' activities in Farm Bureau, Carl represents District 8 on the 13-member Committee.

Experts List Tax Errors Made By Texas Farmers

Texas farmers and ranchers make a number of common mistakes each year that cost them additional dollars at income tax time.

With the deadline for filing farm income tax returns drawing near (March 1), key management decisions can still help reduce the tax load for 1972 by overcoming some common errors, point out Mike Sprott and Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

They list the major income tax mistakes made by agricultural producers as the following:

1. Letting the tax accountant do it all. Turning your tax records over to an "authority" may not be the best decision. Producers must know tax laws themselves and must "think taxes" with every management decision they make during the year. Be sure the tax accountant selected knows farm tax laws and that he asks you questions about your operations that may affect your taxes.
2. Poor planning. This is a major area with far-reaching effects. Included is the failure to buy or sell before the end of the year and the lack of attention to timing sales and trade-ins to transform ordinary income into capital gains.
3. Failure to claim investment credit. This also reflects on poor planning since trading an implement too soon will reduce the amount of investment credit that can be claimed. Using the 7 percent investment credit can lighten the tax burden for many farm and ranch operations.
- Many items, when purchased new or when bought with a farm, qualify for investment credit. Items often forgotten include tile drains, feeding floors, paved drives, wells, fences and grain storage bins. Investment credit can be carried back three years to retrieve tax money previously paid and may also be carried forward seven years to save on future taxes. Use Form 1040X to claim any refund due for past years.
4. Poor record keeping. To take full advantage of tax credits, good records are a must. A good record-keeping system should meet the needs of production operations and tax record requirements. Often, overhead expenses such as publications, insurance, electricity, telephone, interest, repairs, and car and pickup expenses are overlooked.
5. Failure to watch tax changes. Tax laws and court rulings change from year to year. And the agricultural producer must keep abreast of all items that may affect his operation. Of special importance is the Keogh Act which provides for tax-free retirement benefits. The Act allows a deduction of 10 percent of earned income or $2,500, whichever is less, to be set aside -- tax free in a qualified retirement plan. Also, up to $2,050 may be paid to each child annually for farm wages without losing their exemptions, and the child owes no tax as well.
6. Failure to use capital gains fully. Capital gains can be a major source of tax savings. A long-term capital gain means that only one-half of the profit is taxed if assets were held for six months or more, except for certain classes of livestock which must be held at least 24 months.

For Your Information... Now It's Official... A Honey of a Story... Citrus Harvest Ending on Sweet Note... Spring Potato Acreage Declines.

Although the regular 1973 prospective plantings report won't be issued until mid-March, here are the latest preliminary crop acreage estimates for 35 states: Upland cotton plantings are expected to total 12,900,000 acres, down seven percent from 1972. Sorghum growers expect to plant 19,100,000 acres, an increase of 10 percent from a year earlier. Oat planting intentions at 20,300,000 acres is one percent more than 1972. Barley plantings are expected to total 10,100,000 acres, one percent less than 1972. Corn growers expect to plant 70,500,000 acres, up seven percent from 1972. Durum wheat plantings are expected to be at a new record high of 2,800,000 acres, and nine percent above 1972. Other spring wheat planted acreage at an expected 11,700,000 acres, is up 17 percent from 1972. Soybean plantings are expected to reach a record high of 48,800,000 acres, up five percent above 1972. Flaxseed plantings are indicated at 1,150,000 acres, down three percent from 1972.

EVEN though it's been predicted before, now it's official: 1972 crop production in Texas has exceeded production of 1971 in almost every category.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that production of cotton, grain sorghum, wheat, oats, barley, rye, soybeans, flaxseed, peanuts and sugar beets reached levels significantly above production in 1971.

Corn and rice were the only major crops which fell short of the 1971 production level. Peanuts, corn, grain sorghum, and hay attained record high yields per harvested acre, while cotton, wheat, oats, barley, rye, and flaxseed either equalled or exceeded yields per acre reached in 1971.

Upland cotton production in Texas is estimated at 4,050,000 bales, almost double that of 1971; grain sorghum production for 1972 is estimated at 319,780,000 bushels, up almost 20,000,000 bushels from 1971; corn production is estimated at 39,560,000 bushels, down slightly from 1971; peanut production is estimated at a record 478,800,000 pounds; soybean production is set at 5,460,000 bushels, almost double 1971; rice production is estimated at 22,122,000 cwt., down about 1,000,000 cwt. from 1971; hay production for 1972 is set at 4,109,000 tons, down slightly from 1971; wheat production at 44,000,000 bushels for 1972 compares with 31,416,000 bushels in 1971; oat production at 9,720,000 bushels compares with only 5,994,000 bushels in 1971.

HONEY production in Texas during 1972 totaled 11,368,000 pounds, up 35 percent from 1971. Average price per pound for all honey in 1972 was 26 cents, which is 8.1 cents above the 1972 average price per pound of 17.9 cents. Total value of honey and beeswax produced in Texas in 1972 is estimated at $3,090,000 compared with $1,641,000 in 1971.

HARVEST of grapefruit and early and midseason oranges is active in the Rio Grande Valley. Heavy movement of fruit into both fresh market and processing channels is underway. Exports are expected to increase during January and account for a significant percentage of the total fresh market movement.

INTENDED plantings for spring potatoes in Texas for 1973 is down 11 percent from the 1972 crop. Growers intend to plant 7,100 acres this year compared with 8,000 acres last season.

Planting is continuing in the Valley. About 70 percent of the Lower Rio Grande Valley crop will be fresh market reds and the remaining 30 percent will be chipping potatoes.

4-H Club Activities

By Rodney B. Kruse

Milam 4-H leaders attended a Photography Workshop in Taylor, Monday night. Cornell Green, Extension Visual Aids Specialist spoke to twenty five interested leaders from Milam, Travis and Williamson counties.

He encouraged photographers to think before they take a picture. Don't have a distracting background and use the proper lighting. Also an informative slide presentation showed many common mistakes in photography and some photography tricks of the trade.

Leaders attending were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cobb, Mrs. Daniel McDaniel, Robert and Rebecca Riola of Cameron.

Books Given To Library

Mrs. Louis Elley has presented a collection of 44 books on gardening and flower arranging to the Cameron Public Library in memory of her husband.

The collection of books includes "World Book of House Plants", "House Beautiful Gardens and Outdoor Life", several volumes on house plants, Japanese gardens and 11 books on flower arranging.

Miss Louise Jamison, Librarian, said the books, along with gardening books in the library, will be placed in a special section.

Speedway Reduces Tickets

COLLEGE STATION

During a period of continuous price increase it seems that the consumer can't find a bargain anywhere. However that's not true if you plan to attend one of the three major races already scheduled at the Texas World Speedway this season.

Beginning with the Texas Twin 200s set for Saturday, April 7th, ticket prices have been reduced.

Ed Hamblen, executive director said in explaining the reason behind the ticket price reduction, "we had considered making season tickets available but felt that it would be unfair to those unable to attend on a regular basis. It is our feeling that the only way to be fair to everyone would be to reduce the top price of our grandstand seats and add one third more reserved seats in the lowest price range."

"There is no doubt that we are headed for our most successful season," said Hamblen.

Another change at Texas World Speedway which was made in favor of the spectators is the rescheduling of the Long Horn 500 in June. Previously run in the later part of June, this year has been moved up to June 10th so that the fans will not have to endure the extreme heat conditions as in the past.

The public is invited to tour the speedway free of charge on week days from 9 to 5. Week end tours are also available through notifying the speedway office in advance.

Six Flags To Open March 17

Six Flags Over Texas will begin its twelfth season on St. Patrick's Day, March 17.

General Manager Robert W. Freeman said the big theme park will be open Saturdays and Sundays only during the spring season with the exception of the Easter holidays. For that period Six Flags will open daily from April 14, through Easter Sunday, April 22.

Full time daily operation for the summer season will begin May 26, and will extend through Labor Day, September 3.

Teaff To Speak At Calvert

Coach Grant Teaff, head coach of the Baylor Bears, will be guest speaker at the Calvert All-Sports banquet March 20 at the High School gymnasium.

The banquet will highlight the year's sports activities and will honor some seventy boys and girls who have participated in sports during the year. The banquet is being sponsored jointly by the Calvert Lion's Club and the P. T. A. Dr. Joe Weldon Bailey was elected to serve as general chairman of the banquet.

Grant Teaff, in his first year as Baylor's head coach made a remarkable record. At the end of the season he was voted "Coach-of-the-Year" in the Southwest Conference.

Dr. Bailey said, "We hope to make the banquet this year one of the outstanding events in Calvert. The banquet is open to the public. We hope to have many from outside of Calvert in attendance. Over 300 are expected to attend. Tickets will go on sale within a few days.

Yoes Take 3rd Place

Cameron Junior High's 8th grade team the 'Yoe Yoes' won the third place trophy in tournament play Friday and Saturday here. Capturing first and second place honors were Rosebud-Lott and Marlin.

Brian Wilkerson was all-tournament player from Cameron.

Sports Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

REVEREND MR. GLASS:

Bill Glass, Baylor's former All-American who became an 11-year All-Pro defensive end for the Cleveland Browns and Detroit Lions, has mounted an impressive drive to undo much harm that has been done to the youthful athlete in this country.

Unless you've been away the last decade, or you are blind and deaf, it is no secret that the old, tried and true virtues of organized sports have gotten it in the neck. First, from the Anti-establishment folks who apparently do not believe in and discipline. And, then from the new breed of sinners. Head Man, Joe Namath. The latter group has sold its rubbish, like the former, through the Media.

It goes something like, "Training, following orders, subordinating one's personal desires and personal pride are old-fashioned, out of date and therefore not worthy of support by the Super Athlete." Both groups feel that following orders is repulsive.

Glass, now a minister, has been incensed over the way sports has been misused. He has lectured coast-to-coast, unmasking the phony charges and false images these people have pumped into the youth of America. He has also written a book on the subject: "Don't Blame the Game."

In answering Namath, the Matchless NY Jet Passer, Glass used one of Joe's notorious quotes, then answered. Namath: "I got back to the hotel in another hour or two, long before daylight. I got four or five hours of sleep. And, we beat Denver on Sunday." Bill Glass: "Beat Denver on Sunday? But, would they if all the Jets had been out until dawn? I bet Namath wouldn't want to pass behind a line that had been out all night. I'd like to make a play against the tackle who had been carousing. Lack of sleep plus alcohol would make him a pushover. Namath made it impossible to have good discipline as the Jets." You tell 'em Bill!

POW! UT GETS IT!

Port Neches' Jeff (The Jet) Bergeron becomes the third straight "No. 1 Running Back in Texas" to announce, via the Media: "No I haven't made up my mind where I AM going to school, but I would like to say I am NOT going to the University of Texas." Could you believe, couple years ago, that Tommy Prothro and Tex Winter would be out of a job? Prothro, the genius who turned out exciting but also National King football teams at UCLA, had the can tied to him by the LA Rams. And, or course, Winter could not figure out the Crybabies on his Houston Rocket Basketball team, Tex, just a few years ago, was considered a collegiate cage genius in the class of John Wooden. Diron Talbert, the Redskin Tackle, sez he believes George Allen's current Front Four is better than the "Fearsome Foursome" he tutored at LA. And, that other group had Deacon Jones and Merlin Olsen, a couple All-Pros...

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the year ending 1-December 1966, or other taxable year.
Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - Is it true that this year's Federal income tax return asks questions related to Federal revenue sharing?

A - Yes. Your 1972 Form 1040 and short Form 1040A ask two questions related to the sharing of Federal money with state and local governments. One question asks the location of your principal place of residence (state, county, locality and township); the second question asks for the number of your dependents who are filing a return of their own or who did not live at your principal place of residence at the end of 1972.

You must supply the correct information in your answers to these questions to ensure that your state, county and local community receive their rightful share of revenue sharing funds.

Q - Does every taxpayer have to give his state, county, locality and township in answering the revenue sharing question on place of residence?

A - All of this information may not be required. Only certain states have townships and these are specified in your tax form instructions. If your state is not listed there, you can leave this column of your tax return blank. Secondly, there are a few places, such as Baltimore City, Md. and St. Louis, Mo., that are not within a county. Once again, these areas are listed in your instructions.

Unless you lived outside the U. S. on December 31, 1972, you must enter the abbreviation for your state in the column provided. In addition, if you lived inside an incorporated city, town or village, print the name of the municipality in the "locality" column. If you did not live inside the boundaries of such a location, check the box in this column.

Q - Can you give me some tips on how to guard against dishonest tax preparers?

A - The IRS offers the following advice to taxpayers seeking assistance from commercial income tax return preparers: never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later; do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income.

In addition, taxpayers should insist that the tax preparer sign the return he prepares and enter his tax identifying number. Finally, be sure to keep a copy of your return.

Q - What are the rules for deducting finance charges on department store revolving charge accounts?

A - You may deduct the "finance charge" levied by retail stores on your revolving charge accounts if the charges are based on your unpaid balances and computed monthly. Also, in the case of bank credit card plans, you can deduct the finance charge if no part of this amount is for service charges, loan fees, credit investigation fees, etc.

However, if you buy items on the installment plan and the carrying charges are separately stated, but the interest charge cannot be ascertained, deduct the lower of (1) 6 percent of your average unpaid monthly balance of (2) the actual charge for the year. For more details, see IRS Publication 545, "Income Tax Deduction for Interest Expense." Use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

Q - I had no income tax liability for 1972, but I'm filing a return to recover income tax withheld from my pay. Can I still designate $1 of the tax withheld towards the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

A - No. You can only make the $1 check-off if you had an income tax liability. This does not mean that because you are getting a refund, you can't use the $1 check-off, but it does mean that you must be able to show tax on line 20 of your Form 1040 or line 21 of your short Form 1040A to use the check-off.

Timber growth in the U.S. is only at about half its potential, because forestry practices are inadequate.

MENTAL

Sickle Cell

Sickle cell disease (sickle cell anemia) has almost become a household word, receiving needed public attention as a major disease only recently.

Sickle cell anemia is a persistent, inoperable disease about which modern medical science knows comparatively little. Yet this is the most common inherited disorder in the United States and is believed to affect directly more than 2,000,000 black Americans.

For the most part, current research focuses on several areas:
curing those afflicted, preventing recurrences; seeking preventive inoculation; and genetic and family counselling for those known to possess a recessive sickle cell trait.

In mental health, there is very limited knowledge concerning the psychological and social factors involved in sickle cell disease in its several manifestations. It is vital, however, that the emotional, psychological, and interpersonal consequences of the presence of the disease in the family be studied.

Thus, the National Institute of Mental Health has moved in this area and one project is already underway to study the family involved in sickle cell anemia and the impact of the disorder upon the family as a group and individuals.

There is a great need, of course, for fundamental research on the disease; and genetic studies in basic research of the Institute and others are vitaly important.

Results from such research can be employed, for example, to plan an instructional program to aid community agencies and personnel in family counseling and guidance. This could be very helpful for those who frequently deal with families whose mental health is jeopardized by the presence of sickle cell anemia.

1 teaspoon leaf oregano
1/2 teaspoon basil
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs

1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 package (5 to 8 ounces) manicotti noodles
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese

bine with tomato paste, water, brown sugar, oregano, basil and garlic in a large saucepan. Cover and cook slowly 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and stir in 1 cup mozzarella cheese and 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese.

utes. Drain thoroughly. Fill manicotti with ground beef mixture and add any remaining mixture to the sauce. Place 1 cup sauce in bottom of 13 x 9-inch baking dish. Arrange filled manicotti in single layer over sauce. Top
